

edit form field

- name of game -

A hand-drawn diagram of an edit form field. It consists of a large outer rectangle. Inside, at the top, is the text "name of field". Below this is a smaller rounded rectangle containing four horizontal lines for text input. The first line starts with "11 text". At the bottom of the large rectangle are two buttons: "Close" on the left and "Save" on the right, each enclosed in a small rectangle.

- Save - add changes to the entry
- Close - goes back a page without saving
- have different types of forms depending on data they are trying to edit?